THE SYMPTOMS:

They generally appear are at first very slight. Persons find they have a cold, that they have frequent attacks, and are more sensitive to the changes of temperature. In this condition, the nose may be dry, or, aslight discharge, thin and acrid, afterwards becoming thick and adhesive. As the dissease becomes chronic, the discharges are increased in quantity and changed in quality; they are now thick and adhesive, and are hawked or coughed off. The secretions are offensive, causing a bad breath; the voice is thick and masal, the eyes are weak; the sense of the smell is lessened or destroyed; deafness frequently takes place. Another common and important symtom of Catarrh is that the person is obliged to clear his throat in the morning of a thick or slimy mucus, which has fallen down from the head during the night. When this takes place the person may be sure that his disease is on its way to the lungs, and should lose no time in arresting it.

A single Bottle will last a month-to be used three times a day.
